

Here's What Our Fans are Saying About JECC

"Loved the small intimate setting and flexibility! Teachers are great and everyone is personable. They are hands on with all the kids and have numerous activities planned throughout the day. The school also have a great app that updates you on what your child is doing and sends pictures. I would definitely recommend to others!" - Taylor

"My sons both attend Joshua Early Childhood Center full time and we couldn't be happier! We get updates including pictures throughout the day through this great app that is easily installed on your iPhone. The staff are young, energetic and passionate. I know the boys are getting their physical, emotional, and social needs met when I drop them off each day! The parent-teacher conferences include a full assessment of the child and their goals for the school year. The curriculum the school uses is awesome and I know my boys will be ready for kindergarten. JECC is a NON-PROFIT and it shows. Their goal is to educate first and foremost, not make money. They emphasize kindness and being a good friend throughout their day and earn pizza parties for being kind to each other. The teachers are thoughtful and really care about my sons. JECC started when a boy named Joshua passed away unexpectedly and the nonprofit was started in his name, to make sure there was a school that asked "if this was a child's last day on this earth what would we want that day to look like?" I can see that mission daily when I drop off the boys. The staff celebrate my sons for who they are and it's like no other school I have ever experienced!" - Nicole

"First time sending our daughter to preschool and very happy with the experience at JECC. Updated facilities, knowledgeable, friendly, and personable staff who leave me feeling very comfortable caring for and teaching my 2.5 year old. Excellent student to teacher ratios as well as technology integration for both student learning and parent communication. Summer camp was a great way to try out the fit before committing full time." - Nick

"The staff at JECC is an amazing group of people who are smart, passionate and care deeply about the kids. I have two boys who go to school there and they love going to school each day and come home excited about what they are learning. It is a place where they feel safe and confident and have made great strides socially and academically. I would highly recommend Joshua Early Childhood Center to others." - Eric

"As a brand new mom with a very spirited young 2.5-year-old girl I needed a place to go to help foster that free spirit and manage my little ball of energy. JECC has done an incredible job of incorporating my child's individual "spirited" needs with that of the classroom. The teachers are professional, fun, eager to teach and eager to learn about my child. Parent and teacher communication is easy and open. My little girl has developed leaps and bounds since sending her to JECC and I continue to see positive development in her every day. We look forward to sending baby number two there when he is old enough...he can't wait!" - Jess

"My husband's job recently brought us from Connecticut to Colorado. It was a huge move for my young family and my biggest worry was preschool for my 3 yr old daughter. We were moving her in the middle of the year and wanted the transition to be as perfect as possible. We feel so lucky to have found the Joshua Academy for my daughter. With the teacher to student ratio being so amazing, my daughter got the attention she needed to transition into her new school. The staff members have such wonderful, warm personalities that allow every student to feel supported wherever they may be educationally and emotionally. We are amazed at how much she has learned from the couple of months she has been at Joshua Academy and can't wait to see her shine throughout the rest of the year. We recently had her assessment and my husband and I were blown away by how invested both the teachers and directors are in each student. They took our initial concerns when we started with the program and worked directly on meeting the needs of our daughter. We are thrilled to be a part of this wonderful family and look forward to the future years with the Joshua Academy." - Caitlin
